

Helping You Find Quality Child Care

Child care is not immune to the impacts of the COVID-19 pandemic. Although many child care programs/providers are open now to provide essential services to families, parents have understandable concerns about using child care. Here’s where we come in. The following network of Child Care Resource & Referral Agencies is available to assist your staff and the parents in your district in their search for safe, reliable, quality child care. There is no cost to you or them for this service. Parents simply call the agency that serves the location where they are seeking care. A child care specialist will help them understand the different types of care, the program regulations and guidelines to follow to prevent the spread of COVID-19, quality indicators to consider, and options for financial assistance to pay for child care. These services can help parents find child care that meets their family’s specific needs in a way that a recommendation off an internet list or chat, does not. The most customized help of course, and what we strongly recommend, is to call and speak to a specialist on the phone, but most agencies have online services as well.
